

The internet is a consortium on an international level of individual and educational and military and corporate users. They must be allowed free rein! The government did not create it or pay for it. The phone and cable companies are Johnny Come Latelies. Keep their mitts off it! It is helping to keep a fragile economy going.

Remember what happens when you try to govern your breathing consciously.